now put, the susming being for the most part converted into sleeping-rooms.

The Oilleer who accompanied me, Lieut-Colonel Jolliffe, explained that this Blackfriars Shalter is, as it were, the dredger for and the feeder of all The Salvation Army's Social Institutions for men in London. Indeed, it may be likened to a drac-net set to each male unfortunates in this part of the Metropolis. Here, as in the other Army Shelters, are great numbers of bunks that are hired out at 3d. a night, and the usual food-kitchens and appli-

I visited one or two of these, well-ventilated places that in cold weather are warmed by means of hot-water pipes to a heat of about 70 deg., as the clothing on the bunks is light.

I observed that although the rooms had only been vacated for a few hours, they were perfectly inoffensive, and even sweed, a result that is obtained by a very strict attention to cleanliness and ample ventilation. The floors of these places are constantly scrubbed, and the bunks undergo a process of disinfection about once a week. As a consequence, in all the Army Shelters the vermin which sometimes trouble common lodging-houses are almost unknown.

THE NIGHT BEFORE.

I may add that the closest supervision is exercised in these places when they are occupied. Night watchinen are always on duty, and an Officer sleeps in a little apartment attached to each dormitory. The result is that there are practically no troubles of any kind. Sometimes, however, a poor wanderer is found dead in the morning, in which case the body is quietly conveyed away to exact the property of the prope

the morning, in which case the body is quicely conveyed and await inquest.

I asked what happened when men who centd not produce the necessary coppers to pay for their lodging, applied for admission. The answer was that the matter was left to the discretion of the Officer in charge. In fact, in cases of absolute and pitcons want, men are admitted free, although, maturally enough, the Army deas not advertise that this happens. If it did, its hespitality would be a considerably overlaxed.

not advertise that this happens. If it did, its nespitanty would be considerably overlaxed.

Leaving the dormitories, I entered the great hall, in which Leaving the dormitories. I entered the great hall, in which were gathered nearly 600 men seated upon benches, every one of which was filled. The faces and general aspect of these men were cloquent of want and sorrow. Some of them appeared to be intent upon the religious service that was going on, attendance at this service being the condition on which the free breakfast is given to all who need food and have passed the previous night in the street. Others were gazing about them vacantly, and others, sufferers from the effects of drink, debauchery, or fatigue, seemed to be half comatose or asleep.

STORIES FROM THE SUBMERGED.

This cengregation, the strangest that I have ever seen, comprised men of all classes. Some might once have belongged to the learned professions, while others had fallen so low that they looked scarcely human. Every grade of rag-clad misery was represented here, and every stage of life from the lad of sixteen up to the aged man whose allotted span was almost at an end. Rank upon rank of thom, there they sat in their infinite variety, linked only by the common bond of utter wretchedness. The most melancholy sight, I think, that ever my cyas beheld. All of them, however, were fairly clean, for this matter had been seen to by the Officers who attend apon them. The Salvation Army does not only wash the feet of its guests, but the whole body. Also, it dries and porifies their lattered garments.

When I entered the hall, an Officer on the platform was engaged in offering up an extempore prayer.

"We pray that the Holy Spirit may be poured out upon these men. We pray, O God, that Thou wit help them to take fresh courage, to find fresh hope, and that they may rise once again to fight the battle of life. We pray that Thou mayst hring to Thy feet, this morning, such as shall be saved clernally."

Then another Officer, styled the Chaplain, addressed the andice. It to did them that there was a way out of their tridles, of that hundreds who had sat in that hall as they did, now besed the day which brought them there. He said: "You came are this morning, out searcely knew how or why. You did not ow the stand, of God was leading you, and that He will bless if you will disten to His Voice. You think you came cessape this wretched life; you think of the past with all the find of the first one thoulle about the years that are gone. So the King-off God and His righteousness, and all other this shall be adone for them."

Next a man, with a fine tener voice, who, it seems, is nicknamed "the Yorkshiro Canavy," sang the hymo beginning, "God moves in a Meterious Way." After this in plain, foreible language he told his own story. He said that he was well brought up by a good father and mother, and lost everything threugh his own sin. His voice was in a sense his ruin, since he used to sing in public-houses and saloons and there learnt to drink. At length he found himself upon the streets in Lendon, and tramped thence to Vorkshire to throw himself upon the mercy of his parents. When he was quite clese to his home, however, his courage failed him, and he tramped back to London, where he was picked up by The Salvation Army.

This man, a most respectable-looking person, is now a clerk in a wollknewn business house. In his own words, "I knelt down and gave my heart to God, and am to-day in a good retuation."

Next a Salvation Army soldier spoke. Four years before he had altended the Sunday morning meeting in this hall and "found the friemiship of Ged. He has helped me to regain the manhood I had lost and to do my duty. For two years now I have helped to support an invalid sister instead of being a burden to every one I knew, as once I was."

After the singing of the hymn, "Reck of Ages," another man addressed the meeting. He had been a drunkard, a homeless wanderer, who slept night after night on the Embankment till fortune hrought him to this service and to the Penitent-Form. Since that time, two and a half years before, no drink had passed his tips, and once again, as he declared, he had become "a self-respecting, respectable citizen."

Then a dwarf whom I had seen at work in the Spa Road Elevator, and who once was taken about the country to be exhibited as a side show at fairs and there fell a victim to drink, gave his testimony.

Another verse. "Could my tears for ever flow," and after it, in rapid succession, spoke a man who had been a schoolmaster and fallen through drink and gambling; a man whe, or whose brother, I am not sure which, had been a wesleyan preacher, and who is now completed in a Life Assurance Company; a man who had been a prisoner: a man who had been a confirmed drunkard, and others.

PATHETIC PENITENT-FORM SCENES.

More singing and an eloquent prayer which seemed to move the audience very much, some of them to tears; an address from a woman Salvation Army Officer, whe pleaded with the people in the name of their mothers, and a brief but excelled, sermon from Com-missioner Sturgess, based upon the parable of the Marriage of the King's Son as recorded in the 22nd chapter of St. Matthew, and of the guests who were collected from the highways and byways to attend the feast whence the rich and worldly had, excused them-selves attend the feast whence the rich and worldly had, excused themselves.

Then the great and final invecation to Heaven to move the hearts of these men, and the invitation to them to present themselves at the Penitent-Form, Lastly a mighty, thundering hymn, "Jesu, Lover of My Soul," and the ending of the long drama.

It was a wonderful thing to see the spiritually-faced man on the platform pleading with his serdid audience, and to watch them stirring beneath his words. To see, also, a uniformed woman fitting to and fro among that audience, whispering, exhorting, invoking—a temptress to Salvation, then to note the response and is manner that were stranger still. Some peor wretch would seem to watch, only to relayse into a state of sullen, almost defiant torpor. A little while and the leaven hegins to work in him. He dushes mutters something, half rises from his heat, sits down again, rises once more, and with a pecular, unwilling gait staggers to the Doutent-Form, and in an abandomment of grief and repentance throws himself upon his knots and there begins to sob. A watching Officer comes to him, kneels at his side, and, I suppose, the stages him. The fremendoms hymn bursts out like a page of triumph—

Just as I am, without one plea,

It is done, and the valence for some of them borned to the result of the result of the some of them to the platform which is cleared for them, and there kneel down, and I observed the naked feet of some of them showing through the worn-ont boots.

So it goes on. At length the great audience rises and begins to depart, filing one by one through a certain doorway. As they pass, Officers who have appeared from somewhere wait for them with outstretched arms. The mest of them borns past shaking their heads and multering. Here and there one panses, is lost—or eather won. The Salvation Army has him in its net and he joins the crowd upon the platform. Sill the hymn sweets of the control of the platform. FATHER SCARR OF DRAYTON.

While we are confident Heaven

While we are confident Heaven's made richer, we cannot but regret the sudden and unexpected death of Father Searr of Brayton, who was promoted to glory on October 13th, 1911.

Father Searr was born on Aug. Bill, 1830, and when but a youth was converted in an old-time primitive Methodist revival. So thereough was his conversion that he at once started to tell others what a Savigor he heaf found and what a Seviour be hid found, and for 30 years he was a local preacher of that Church, Being at early pioneer of Western On-tario he often walked many miles

What Meyor Gaynor describes as the "meanest and most arrogant piece of business ever known," is the strike of the New York Street Cleaning Department. First of all the drivers of the city garbage wagons quit work because they failed to gain a cencession regarding night work. The Mayor ordered that new men he put on in their place as a serious condition of things would some result in the congested city if all ribbish was not promptly removed. This action on the part of the Mayor led to serious riots, strikers and sympathizers look to the roofs and hurled bricks and bottles upon men hired by the city to do their work, and myon the police guards. Three men were badly hurt, one of whom will die. A dozen others were stimmed or cut. A further move on the part of the strike leaders was to order the sweepers to quit work also. They threaten a general teamster strike if their demands are not complied with.

A Songster Brigade has also been organized. Three Brigades hold open-air meetings on Sunday ningts, and when they mite to march to the hall there are 30 or 90 on the march.

A new quarters has been built (after paying rent for 25 years) at a cost of $4,000, and we are proud to have, what we have been told, one of the best officers' quarters in the Dominion. This only shows in a small way what can be done when men and women lay themselves out to do the whole will of God.

During the time that Captain Ransom and Lt. Minore were at Councils in Halifax, the meetings at North Sydney, C.B., were led by Envoy Ivey and Sergt. Major Arnold.

THE LIFE OF HOLINESS, AND HOW IT MUST BE LIVED.

RACTICAL HOLINESS, ANI is not something that begins by doing, but by being. It is not something to be manufactured, nor is it a mere question of initiation. A flower may be initiated, but we can always tell an artificial flower, brunament compares a Christian and a moralist be diving organism and a crystal. The crystal does not grow, it increases by does not grow, it increases by accretions from without. The living organism grow vitally from within, The Christian works from the centre to the circumferfrom within, The Christian works from the centre to the circumfer-ence, the moralist works from the circumference to the centre. Hoti-ness works from the heart to the surface. It is the outcome of Christ's awn indwelling. When the apostle said "Christ liveth in me," he meant more than the mere fact of Christ's presence— he meant that his life and service were the direct outcome of the unbindered working of Christ's were the direct infrome of the unhindered working of Christ's indwelling. As the veey life of the vine itself is in the branch, so Christ would live in us and manifest Himself in our mortal bedies to those around us.

Some writer has said. "If the graces of the Spiril are within us, they will sometimes look out of the windows," and if Christ really dwells in our hearts, if will not graces of the Spiril are within us, they will sometimes look and of the windows," and if Christ really dwells, in our hearts, it will not be long before He will be seen and felf in our thoughts, words, and actions. As the lived we will minister, as the was patient, thoughtful, maelitsh, and kind, so will we be. We are to manifest in our daily walk that the very life of the Lord Jesus, which was poured out fer us, has been communicated to us. "Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our holy." Our life, measured by every standard of human mensurement, may herry poor, weak, and insufficient, but if Christ's life flows into us and flirough us, we shall not fail to make some contribution fowards the accomplishment of this blessed purposes of love and mercy to a fallen world. With our feet we shall then run errands of mercy, with our lips we shall tel file lites and faithfuiness, will our hands we shall dededs of kindness and tenderness; our whole being shall be employed in scattering blessings of helpness and gladness all about us. To increase by scaltering and grow poor by withholding, to save by lesing and lose by saving, is the climax of absurdity to a carnal heart, but it is a first and fundamental principle of Christ's leaching. The taunt, "the saved others, Himself He cannot ave," was truth unconsciously told, Jesus Himself could not become fruitful until, like the cannot wave," was truth unconsciously told, Jesus Himself could not become fruitful until, like the cannot wave," was truth unconsciously told, Jesus Himself the lates the savide when Jesus was crucitled? Who knews the blessed gain of Christ's life through His sociations of the savidec and death? Was Mary's eintment wasted when, she broke interest wasted cited? Who knows the blessed gain of Christ's life through His sacrifice and death? Was Mary's cintment wasted when she broke the vase and poured it upon her Lord? What remembrance would it have had it she had not poured it out, lost it, sacrificed it? Nor can our lives ever become of much blessing to the world until the law of self-sacrifice has become the predominating principle. As Dr. Miller says, "The alter stands in the foreground of every life, and can be passed by only at the cost of all that is noblest and best. There is more grandon in five minutes of self-renunciation than in a whole life-time of self-interest and self-sorbing."

time of self-interest and self-seeking."
The Master's teaching is that we have to die to live. Death is the gate of life. If we would save others we must sarrifee ourselves. Poussa, the poiter, after many efforts to make a set of porcelain worthy of the Emperor's table, despaired at last of making anything worthy of the royal acanything worthy of the royal ae-reptance, so he fluig hinself into the furnace where he was glazing his wares. The Chinese sages the furnace where he was glazing his warres. The Chinese sages say that such heavenly beauty never gilded percelain before as made it shine. They were writing more wisely than they knew. "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die it bringeth forth much fruit." The teaching is that that which costs nothing accomplishes nothing. Service without secrifice secures no result, no achievement, no victory that is worth the name. If we would keep our life we shall lose it, lut if we compty it out in loving service we shall make it a lasting blessing to the world. No high thing can be done easily or ing service we shall make it a lasting blessing to the world. No high thing can be done easily or without cost. To be consumed in foll's work as "a living sacrifice," means jurning up and burning out: the candle will grow shorter and the lattery weaker. That is a true symbol of the conservated life, which is inscribed on the temb of Dr. Adam Clarke—a burning candle, with the superscription, "I give light by giving up our lives to thim who loved us; we are consumed by giving up our lives to thim who loved us; we are consumed by the zeat of His hause while we carry light and salvation to those for whem He died.

In the Gallery of Arts in Paris stands a beautiful statue, which has a strange and touching history. The sculptor was an unknown man, who lived in a garret and was very poor. He spent some of the best years of his life on this work, and after many disappointments and failures it was furshed to his satisfaction. He cemented the parts together, and lay down to rest. But in the middle of the night he awoke with a start. A terrible frost had come over the city, and he was afraid lest his life's work should be marred, so he got up and wrapped what scanty hedelething he had over the city, and he was alraid hest his life's work should be marred, so he got up and wrapped what scanty hedelething he had around his work to preserve it. He then lay down again and sleet, but he never awake. The next day he was not moving about as usual, so the neighbours turst open the door, and they wept when they saw how he had sacrificed him, but his work still lives and will live, the wonder and admaration of all who behold it. Much like this will it be with those who have renounced themselves in order to glorify God and de good to men. When they are dead and some day rich and glorious reward will be given. Their work at present may be unrecognized at present may be unrecognized and unnoticed. It may be like the dew which falls at night unob-served. Who takes any notice of it? But in the morning the heau-tiful result is seen on every blade of grass and the spray of every tree, and by-and-bye the morning will dawn, the shadows will flee away, and one of the sweet sur-will dawn, the shadows will flee away, and one of the sweet surprises of heaven to those who have secrificed themselves for their work will be how much has come out of their peor efferts.

It is mercy that calls for duty and melts us into compliance. After setting forth Divine mercy as never in the world before—in its sovereign freeness, unfathomable depths, and glorious issues, the apostle says: "By all that through the in-pring Spirit I have shewed you, I beseech you "Present your bodies a living sacrifice... unto God." Such an appeal should be irresistible. It is as though Christ Hiarselt said, "By the blood I have shed, by the pangs I have suffered, by the life that I have lived, and by the death that I have died. I beseech you present, yourselves to Me." ueam that I have died. I besech you present yourselves to Me." How sweetly cogent: who can re-fuse?

"Love so amazing, so Divine, Demands my scul, my life, my all."

We have just closed a very successful week-end's meetings at Ottawa I. Brig, and Mrs. Hargrave led on, and consequently there was an unusual amount of interest nanitosted. Our landers there was an inusual amount of interest namifiested. Our leaders arrived for the Saturday night welcome meeting, and among other interesting items a welcome was tendered to Band Secretary. W. Fry and his brother Handsman, T. Fry. A splendid spirit p. vailed all day on Sunday. The a., ernoon meeting was made a memorable one by a talk given by. to this issue we publish the official list of the changes and appointments in connection with the Divisional and Departmental Commands which have been decided upon, after long and thoughtfid deliberation. change is so far-reaching that it is bound to affect the position of the Army in this country. Let us all pray that it may mean a for-Mard movement. A periodical change-over such as this has a great deal to recommend it. is fruitful in Tresh inspiration and new resolves, and a new start is the usual tereronner of new success. There is no doubt but that this will be the case, so far as this change is concerned. Some comrades will receive a change of work. That they will "moke good" there is no doubt. Their intelligence, devotion, and Iried versatility will emble them to give a good account of themselves in the different spheres of glorious serwice to God and mon that the Army has provided them with. Shortly after the publication of this issue of the Cry the Officers will assume their new commands and responsibilities. They wilt enter upon them with high hopes. new plans, fresh enthusiasm, and sanclifled zeal, Let overy comrade of whatever rank support them by loval service and whole-hearted faith and prayer, so that God's work may be extended and his name glorified.

Only those who are familiar with the very undesirable conditions that have existed in this place, so far as a hall is concerned, can fully appreciate all that this means. That the Officers and soldiers of the Corps have done as well as they have during recent years in the face of the trying and difficult circumstances that existed from the standpoint of a meeting place, speaks volof a meeting place speaks vol-umes for their loyalty and faith-

The new Citadel, which is very centrally located, is an up-to-date building, well equipped, and in centrally located, is an op-to-date building, well equipped, and in every way splendidly adapted to the needs of the Carps. The man anditorium is seated with 250 modern folding seats, is brilliantly lighted and with its handsome metallic ceiling is a most inviting place of worship. The week night half is a heady and has accommodation for 150 people. Needless to say, the local people are delighted and are looking forward to a bright and successful future for the Corps. The opening meeting, which was under the presidency of His Honor Judge Hitchinson, was a successful affair, and owing to the presence of our beloved Leader was one of more than ordinary interest.

The Commissioner, accompanied by Major Findlay, arrived in Sherbrooke at 6 p.m., and was at once hurried to the parlours of the Presbylerian Church, where the soldiers of the Corps gave him a consing welcome. A social half-hour was enjoyed over a cup of tea, after which the Commis-sioner captured all hearts by a delightfully helpful heart talk. His words of counsel and advice lis words of counsel and advice cannot fail to accomplish much in the lives of all who were privileged to be present. Its long and vari dexperience, so full of incident enabled him to supply information and experiences that simply charmed and interested his addience, and it was quite easy to understand how Mr. Farwell, who later on proposed the vote of thanks to the Chairman, should drift into a enlogistic spreech on the inspiring address of the Commissioner and state that as far as he was concerned it was to him a revelation, as he had no idea that the Army's operations were so varied, for reaching, and effective. The Itanutton Division had sent in the largest number to this session—nine. Next came the London Division with eight, followed by the Toronto Division with seven. The Pacific Province had sent six, including one from Dawson City, Yukon. Five came from the North-West Province, four each from the St. John and Halifax Divisions, and three from the East Onlario Province. This made a total of forty-six, the lads and lassies being about equally divided.

China's Transformation.

China has sometimes been nicknamed the Sphinx, and in meknamed the Sphinx, and in considering its past history, the name is not inappropriate. When what was known of the Roman Empire was nothing more than the circuit of seven hills China had already become an empire by virtue of the prowess of her arms and the soundness of her admin-istrative government. Egypt, varies of the prowess of her arms and the soundness of her administrative government. Egypt, Babylon, Assyria, Greece, etc., were ence her contemperaries, but where they have a Ask the pranula dominating the plains of Cairo, search through the ruins of the city of Nineveh, go to the pass of Thermopylae, and read the story in maribe of Leonichas and his bugallant Spartens and you will get an answer. Nations use and nations fell, wars raged, certhquakes played havoer famine and pastlence ran riot, the mighty if ers overflowed their books, but "the Sphinx" street and the Aransformation, however, has come. THE CHRISTMAS CRY FOR 1911

The Pictorial Section embraces

REE TRI-COLOUR PICTURES,

And that's something we have never had before.

Bo you know what a tri-color picture is? You don't! We will try to tell you. Scientists declare that all colours may be made of the three primary colours—yellow red, and blue. And applied art has made it possible by printing these three colours one over the other, to print a picture in all the range of natural colours, or the colours of the original picture. A picture so printed is called a tri-colour picture. We have three of them.

little four-year-old in riverman's jacket, red sash, gaiters, and toque, holding his first sled. It is his Christmas present, his big brother is with him to help him ride on it down a hill.
In the background is a lovely bit of Canadian scenery. And —greatest novelty yet in illustrated journalism—a birch-bark border surrounds it. This is a reproduction of the natural bark, cut from trees in the Muskoka district and reproduced with the greatest fidelity to nature. This is a specially attractive cover.

which the greatest strengt to nature. This is a specially attractive cover, the second Tri-colour Cut depicts No. 2 of the series of "Types of Salvation Soldiery." This is a figure of a grand-old Colour-Sergeant with his flag. The colours are very real and Colon-Sergeant with his hag. The colours are very real and beautiful. The third is entitled "The Lumberjack's Christmas Letter," and depicts a stalwart lumberman sitting on a log in the shanty near the stove reading a letter. Over him is shown a visionary scene of his wife and children in the Old Country when the Christmas pudding is brought in. The subject is one that will appeal to all, and the colouring is rich and warm warm.

Our large picture has been admired by all who have had he chance of seeing it. The picture is a reproduction of a celebrated painting in the Birmingham Art Gallery, and we have secured permission from the authorities to reproduce it. Our reproduction being made from a magnificent photograph taken by a firm of art photographers in London. It is entitled "Men Must Work While Women Weep," being based on Rey. Mr. Kingsley's poem, "The Three Fishers," and contains some splendid drawing of women fisherfolk. It is magnificently printed in a rich brown on a buff tint.

There are two full-page photographs in our Christons. Cry that will be greatly admired and give general pleasure.

THE GENERAL AND THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,

showing our great leaders in conference in The General's room, where his literary work is done. It is a splendid piece of photographic composition, well printed in two colours. The next is that of

COMMISSIONER AND MRS. REES.

MMISSIONER AND MRS. REES.

This was taken expressly for us, and is enclosed in a fine decorative horder.

Some idea of the wealth of pictorial matter to be found in our Christmas Gry. which is the great Salvation Army Pictorial, may be gained from the fact that it contains no fewer than eleven full-page pictures and one two-page picture. There are many pen and ink skelches illustrating the reading matter. matter.

Amongst other striking pictures are-

"PARGLED,"

A picture illustrative of a phase of our prison work. It shows in a most touching monner the grey-haired father meeting with his son on his release. The Warden, the Turnkey and the S. A. Officer are drawn true to life—even to the little dog that springs up to greet his young master.

"GOD BE MERCIFUL TO ME A SINNER."

ID BY MERCIFUL TO ME A SINNER."

is the litle of a pictore that will be viewed with great interest. It represents a Penitent-Form scene in a Salvation Army prayer meeting, and is perhaps the most realistic and highly-finished picture that has ever been published of this subject. We shall have more to say about this great number next week. In the meantime Officers, boost up your orders, Order largely to start with. There is not a great margin for repeat orders, and you wouldn't feel good with yourself if you found your supply run out and you have not been able to supply half the people who would like to have had a copy.

YOU'LL BE UP AGAINST IT

If you don't order a good supply of the Christmas Number, for it will sell like hot cakes on a frosty morning, and it you don't repeat your order quick you will not be able to get more. Moral: Send in a big order to start with.

ARE YOU FROM THE OLD COUNTRY?

Then you must get a copy of the Christmas War Cry and send home. It will show the old folks at home how the children amuse themselves, how kee is cut on the Great Lakes, what a lumberjack is like, and a lot of other things Canadian. Only ten cents. Turn to page 15 and see what the pictorial contents are like. Ask the Corps Officer to save you one.
